NOTE FOR: Director of Central Intelligence

The attached is a letter for your signature to H. Eugene Douglas, Ambassador at Large with the Department of State. Ambassador Douglas visited you last week and subsequently sent you multiple copies of a report, Central America: The Future of the Democratic Revolution. The report was published by the Gulf and Caribbean Foundation, an organization with which our analysts are unfamiliar. The letter for your signature thanks the Ambassador for forwarding the report to us and indicates we are arranging to have future reports from the Foundation sent directly to us.

Robert M. Gates
Deputy Director for Intelligence

Dear Gene,

Thank you for forwarding copies of the Gulf and Caribbean Foundation report, Central America: The Future of the Democratic Revolution. I have sent the report to the analysts who follow events in the region and asked that we arrange to have future reports from the Foundation sent directly to us.

Yours,

Dear Bill,

I enjoyed our talk this morning. Regarding the Texas based Gulf and Caribbean Foundation, I want you to have the first report they produced. Thousands of copies have already been distributed to newspapers, universities, and church groups, and just last week the Foundation got a request for a copy from Kenya. Now that's what I call coverage!

Peter Rodman is out of the office on leave until Monday. My staff is trying to rustle up a draft of the President's speech.

I'll be in Texas from Friday to next Monday speaking on Mexico and Central America. If Gates doesn't reach me before then, I'll call him when I come back.

Sincerely,

H. Eugene Douglas
